New Electric Line Fare Glendale to L. A. and Return to Be Only 20c

Our City Comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Lower Car Fare by New Electric Line Will be Added Boost for Glendale

ANNOUNCEMENT is made today to the effect that by buying a thirty-ride ticket on the Glendale and Montrose railway the fare from Glendale to Los Angeles would be only ten cents.

A ten-cent car fare for Glendale, if it were not a reality, would sound too good to be true. The psychological effect of a ten-cent fare to Los Angeles will be far reaching and takes away the adverse advertising we have been receiving from the high cost of a single or round trip ticket.

WITH the present transportation facilities, by purchasing a commutation book the fare is reduced to as low as 23 cents a round trip on a sixty-ride book, which has to be used, however, during a current month. This gives a low fare for the residents who work in Los Angeles, but the people who are looking for a place to live and have to pay the high fare to come here are discouraged before they have either a chance to look us over or to learn that a lower fare could be secured through the purchase of a commutation book.

WE HAVE never felt that our fare, other than the one-ride ticket, was high, but we do think a great many prospective residents have been lost to us through having to pay 88 cents for a round-trip ticket from Los Angeles to Glendale. An announcement as to what fare the Glendale and Montrose railway would charge has been awaited with considerable interest and the news is another boost to aid the city's growth. According to present plans, the line will be in operation early in January.

AT TODAY'S meeting the Glendale city council denied an application for a permit to operate an automobile camp at San Fernando road and Riverdale drive. This was surely a move in the right direction but it is our opinion that the only way of solving this problem will be for the city to maintain a municipal camp.

BY DOING this and making a charge to cover only the cost of operation, the question will eventually solve itself, for a camp in private hands and run for profit could not exist. Just as long as this matter is unsettled we will have the different sections stirred up over other applications which are bound to come in from time to time.

WE HAVE been told that four of the city councilmen are for a municipal camp ground but that one of the members is blocking the move. If this is true we think it is about time for a definite step to be taken. One man should not be permitted to interfere with an undertaking that the majority feel would be for the city's best interests.

BOY'S FOOT HURT IN ELEVATOR AT NOON TODAY

Andrew Springfield of 1320 North Columbus avenue, was the victim of quite a serious accident today at noon in the elevator of the Lawson building. He was making the ascent and seeing a piece of paper on the floor undertook to kick it out of the car just as it started. The cage moved swiftly upward and his foot was caught under a projecting piece of iron which cut through his shoe and made a long gash between his big and second toe. Fortunately no bones were broken and when the boy, who is about 12 years old, was taken to the office of Dr. Kaemmerling on the fourth floor, stitches were taken which brought the injured parts together and will make his foot as good as new. He will probably refrain from kicking in elevators hereafter.

Council Unanimously Votes Against Permit For Same

The application for the permit to operate a camp ground at Riverdale and San Fernando, Glendale, was denied by action of the council this morning.

At this hearing about fifty residents of the territory surrounding the camp ground were present and several of them spoke against the proposition to grant it a permit.

Those opposing were represented by Attorney Dwight Stephenson, who, in his arguments, said:

"I present a protest bearing 140 names of property owners in the region of the camp. There is $700,000 taxable property in the region of the camp—all the owners of which are against the camp ground. There were 60 children from this camp in the Glendale schools last year and the parents of not one of these children paid anything toward the upkeep of the local schools. Riverdale drive, one of the finest streets in Glen-senting Mr. Holland, owner of the lease for the camp, stated that Mr. Holland agrees to in every way live up to the requirements of the city ordinance. The argument up to this time, he said, has been solely on the grounds of sanitation.

The motion to deny the application was made by Councilman Kimlin and seconded by Councilman Hall. The vote was unanimous against granting the permit.

The council took steps toward making Verdugo road, between Wabasso way and Opeeche way, an industrial district. The motion was made by Councilman Hall and

PARADE OF GLENDALE REALTY BOARD LOOMS LARGE

Plans for the enlargement of the parade planned by the Glendale Realty board that it boost for the sewer bonds and incidentally to celebrate the building permit total of $10,000,000 take out in 1923, were perfected at a meeting of the committee this morning at which it was decided that the three bands expected to participate in the march, Elks, Sciots and Community bands, shall be carried on trucks, and that not only city officials and sponsors of the movement but all representative organizations be invited to take part in a monster motor parade which cover a much longer line of march than was at first contemplated. This would carry the enthusiasm to every part of the city. The parade will take place Saturday afternoon, January 5, as first planned, but will start at 2 o'clock instead of 2:30 as at first announced, in order that the enlargement planned may be carried out. Every one in Glendale who has a car or who can secure a ride with a friend is asked to join the jubilee celebration and boost for Glendale and for the $1,600,000 sewer bonds whose defeat would mean death to the prosperity of the city.

PRINCESS PAT REG'T. HERO SUMMONED "OVER THERE"

Lion A. DeYoung passed away at the family home, 720 North Isabel, Glendale, December 26, aged 31 years. Deceased has been a resident of Glendale for five years, having taken up his home here at the close of the late war. He was a highly respected and much loved salesman for the Petroleum Oil company. He leaves behind a wife, Mrs. Elaine DeYoung, who left last evening for Redwood City, where the final services and interment will take place. The Jewel City Undertaking company was in charge of the services in Glendale.

Mr. DeYoung was one of the 19 members of the famous Princess Pat regiment who survived the almost total annihilation of that famous fighting unit on one of the sanguinary battlefields in France. He served under three flags—the Canadian, the American and the French, with distinguished gallantry.

REALTY BOARD IN DEADLY EARNEST

Plans Sewer Fight Along Practical Lines and Will Carry On

In addition to proceedings of the Glendale Realty board published in yesterday's Daily Press, the following actions were taken:

On motion of C. B. Guthrie it was decided to appoint a vigilance committee, the duty of which will be to assist the precinct captains in their work of distributing literature to every voter in the city.

Various precinct captains reported that the work in their districts is progressing nicely. C. B. Guthrie reported that he has called a meeting of his precinct committee of about thirty people for this afternoon, at which time plans for covering his district will be made.

Mr. Guthrie offered to loan his offices at 110 West Broadway for the use of the campaign committees during the last two days before election. My office and my force are at your service free of charge," said Mr. Guthrie. This offer was accepted. An effort will be made to have the police department permit no parking between Orange and Brand on the south side of Broadway during election day in order to facilitate the operations at campaign headquarters.

In reporting on the arrangements for the "over the top" parade, which is being arranged by the Glendale Realty board but which will be participated in by everyone in Glendale L. H. Myers, chairman of the advertising committee, said:

"We have 96 cars assured for this parade thus far, but we expect the board members to furnish 500 machines in this parade. This parade will be for all the people of the city. It is not a Realty Board demonstration, although we are arranging it. Every organization will be asked to take part. It will be a joint demonstration for passing the $10,000,000 mark in building and a boost for the sewer bonds."

In this parade will be three bands—the Sciots, the Elks and the community service musical organizations. One thousand machines are expected. There will be an American flag on each machine and banners on others. The parade will travel through the business districts and many of the residential sections of the city. All those wishing to donate cars and drivers in this parade are asked to notify the office of the Glendale Realty board.

The board went on record as being opposed to the auto camp on San Fernando road and it was decided to appoint a committee to appear before the council Thursday night and to protest against the granting of the camp ground permit, which has been asked for.

GLENDALE TO LOS ANGELES ONLY A DIME

By New G.-M. and U. P. Line Fare to Big City But 10 Cents

"Now that the new cars have arrived, the Glendale-Montrose railway is ready to say, 'Let's go,' and could put its extension service to meet the yellow car line into effect tomorrow but for one thing," said Superintendent Hatch this morning. "In anticipation of the heavy traffic expected on Glendale avenue, the Union Pacific is now replacing its present light tracks with 90-pound rails and proposes to make a good job while at it and while the thoroughfare is being repaved. According to its program, the line will be ready by the first of January and we are hopeful of its accomplishment."

Relative to fares, which is the feature of outstanding interest to those planning to patronize the new service, Mr. Hatch says, "The single cash fare from Glendale to Glassell Park, to the point where we connect with the yellow line, will be 10 cents but we are putting out a 90-day family ticket good for 15 round trips for only $1.50 which will make the fare but five cents, or 10 cents from Glendale to the heart of Los Angeles. The fare on the yellow line being but five cents for the junction point, with transfers in all directions, the Glendale resident can come pretty near to going from his home to any point in Los Angeles and back for 20 cents.

As to the present service from Glendale and Montrose to Broadway and Maryland, this city, no change is contemplated. Said Mr. Hatch: "If we can make it fit in

LOS FELIZ BOULEVARD IMPROVEMENT TO BE DELAYED

The improvement of Los Feliz boulevard between the top of the Hollywood hill and the Southern Pacific will not be unduly hastened, according to information received by the Glendale chamber of commerce.

The city clerk of Los Angeles, Robert Dominguez, writes as follows on the subject: "At a meeting of the council, report of the city engineer relative to a communication from the Glendale chamber of commerce concerning the condition of Los Feliz boulevard was received and placed on file."

The communication from City Engineer John Griffin, which is referred to, is as follows:

"The new patches placed by our asphalt gang near the center of the roadway south of the bridge are easily visible and show that the worst holes have been patched. The roadway in numerous places is quite rough at the edges due to heavy trucks which have made depressions.

"We find, however, that many other boulevards are in more serious need of repairs and therefore do not wish to immediately stop work somewhere else and move a gang to this place. We will bear this situation in mind and make repairs when a gang can conveniently be transferred."

Glendale's Sewer

EXPERT INFORMATION FURNISHED DAILY ON THIS GREAT PROJECT

(In this column will appear from day to day, comments on the sewer project, which is the biggest thing that has ever confronted the citizens of Glendale, also articles prepared by the publicity committee of the sewer committee of the chamber of commerce which may be considered as expert information.)

L. H. Myers, relator, of the firm of Twining & Myers, 227-A South Brand:

"Sewers are the only salvation for the city of Glendale. This city has reached the saturation point of development without sewers. We cannot expect to get the large capitalists to come in with apartment houses, hotels, etc., until we have sewers. If sewers pass, Glendale will reach 100,000 by 1926. If not, the city is bound to go back."

Rev. Louis Tinning, 220 North Belmont, assistant pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church:

"To vote the bonds is the only thing to do. The proposition should carry unanimously. Sewers are absolutely essential for the health of the people here. We need them for the building of a modern city as well as for laying the foundation for a great city which Glendale has an opportunity to be in the future. I certainly will vote for it and do all I can to assist in carrying the issue."

THE GROWTH OF A CITY

It has been said that the sewer agreement between Glendale and Los Angeles limits the growth of Glendale.

There are only two ways by which a city can grow, namely—by annexing new territory, or by adding new inhabitants. If it is impossible to house any more people on a given area, new areas must be added. If it is impossible to add new territory, more inhabitants must be housed on the original area.

Let us consider these facts in relation to the growth of Glendale.

At the present time Glendale is prevented from expanding to the west and the south by Los Angeles. On the east Pasadena prevents any possible annexation of territory with the exception of the area within Sycamore canyon. The

CONTEST FOR MOST POPULAR CARRIER INTERESTS PUBLIC

Does your Press carrier give service? Following the announcement yesterday that a contest among our carrier boys which will tend to increase the efficiency of the delivery service, in which we offered $25 for the three carrier boys who receive from their patrons the most letters explaining that they get good service, a stream of letters have been received.

The carriers we feel are deserving and we are here to help them give you the best service possible. In an effort to reward them for any extra effort they put forth, we are asking subscribers to whom any little courtesy, unprompted on their part or ours, has been rendered willingly by the carrier boy, to so state in writing and help the carrier win a cash prize.

Your carrier works all holidays, often without dinner until late, rain or shine, for your paper must come.

He is the butt of all complaints you make and if he does his best he deserves all we can give him.

This contest is based on letters received at this office, and is judged on the following points:

1. Painstaking in throwing of paper.
2. Condition paper is received in.
3. Courtesy while collecting.
4. By observation: Does boy loiter on route or is he speedy.

In your hands, subscriber, lies the power to give some carrier a happy smile and a contented knowledge that he has done well as he receives his prize.

The contest will last until Wednesday, January 2, 1924.

EAGLE ROCK NOTES

Rosemary street is now about completed, and the gas company is busy laying pipe before the street is paved.

No matter what your plans are for tomorrow night, don't fail to see the Christmas tree at the city hall and hear the program. It will probably be the last and biggest event for Eagle Rock this year and everyone in town is expected to be there. Santa Claus will give out candy canes to all the kiddies in Eagle Rock and with all of the organizations of the community behind it, the affair promises to be full of joy. The time is 7:30 to 8 o'clock. The city hall is located two blocks east of Eagle Rock boulevard on Colorado.

The building permits for the last few days are as follows: Joseph Angelillo, dwelling, 321 South Yosemite, $3500; Louie D. Thomas, dwelling, 1545 Chickasaw avenue, $5000; R. H. Swartz, private garage, 5348 Sumner avenue, $3000; Joseph Angelillo, dwelling, 370 South Yosemite, $3500; Joseph Angelillo, dwelling, 272 South Yosemite, $3500; Joseph Angelillo, dwelling, 223 South Yosemite, $3500; Joseph Angelillo, garage, 223 South Yosemite, $300; William Wirth, dwelling, 5447 Elverane, $3300; William Wirth, auto garage, 5447 Elverano, $200; George P. Thompson, garage, 5431 Ellis, 1150; J. W. Buckley, garage, 5265 Townsend avenue, $500; J. W. Buckley, dwelling, 5265 Townsend avenue, $3500; W. C. Dow, private garage, 2563 Hill drive, $500; Charles Stevying, dwelling, 1591 Waldron street, $150.

Edwin Mangold of 1553 Stanley avenue, who was at first thought to have been badly bitten by a dog belonging to a Colorado boulevard family, is up and around. It seems that the dog was confused with another one and is not vicious at all. The boy was in his little wagon, and it is thought the dog was just attracted by the noise and became over-playful. The worst bite the boy received was in the leg and as he is able to walk around without it hurting him, all are agreed that the incident should be forgotten. The owner has promised to keep an eye on the dog more in the future, and so everything looks all right.

RICKETTS TO MOVE INTO NEW OAKLAND HOME FRIDAY

The new sales and service building of Thos. E. Ricketts at 420 East Colorado street will be opened to the public on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, at which time there will not only be a display of newest Oakland Six models on the floor but there will be music and other appropriate entertainment.

The opening of this new motor car sales place marks another step in the commercial advance of Glendale, because while the building expresses a new note in architectural beauty and modern equipment it means even more. It represents another success among Glendale enterprises. Ricketts came here less than a year ago and secured the agency for the Oakland and set to work to put himself and the car on the Glendale map. The completion of his building and its formal opening marks the achievement of that goal.

Also the building of this imposing motor car home on East Colorado in the very heart of the new motor car row is an indication of the rapid growth and expansion of business in general in Glendale. Instead of remaining in a congested locality, huddled and grouped, the motor car agencies are spreading out and East Colorado seems to be the logical center of that phase of business within a very short time.

"From the very first day that I started to handle the Oakland in Glendale, I have made advances in business," says Thos. E. Ricketts. "I was thoroughly familiar with the Oakland before I arrived here and I knew that it was a wonderful piece of merchandise and all that was required was to let the people know it and selling would be easy. The car has more than made good here and with the new 6-54 now well under way, I seriously wonder if I haven't made a mistake in not building a much larger home for the Oakland than my new place is.

CHRISTMAS IS JUST WHAT WE MAKE IT?

By D. J. S.

I am sure that everyone had a Merry Christmas.
I know that I did.
But I was afraid that I wouldn't,
For this is the first year that I've been alone.
Christmas eve I began to have a slight feeling of self pity,
And the longer I thought about it, that slight feeling grew larger and larger,
Until its dimensions became so large that I couldn't see beyond them.
And then those ever-ready tears came to the surface,
(I didn't dare let them trickle down my cheeks,
For I was on the street car, and I would have disgraced myself.)
And suddenly I brought my thoughts together with a sudden jerk
(It might have been the car's sudden stop that affected those dark broodings.)
And I said to myself, "Se here, you are thinking too much about the material side of Christmas,
And not enough about the real meaning of it."
And I scolded myself severely.
Then and there I determined within myself that I would have a lovely Christmas,
Even if I had to spend the entire day in my room.
And I began to smile, and things began to appear as bright as the Christmas trees
Which I saw all lit up in the houses along the road.
And Christmas morning, as soon as I was awake,
The nicest things began to happen to me.
And kept on happening all day long, and I wasn't alone at all,
For a lady with a kind heart saw to that.
And I was glad that I had smiled, instead of frowned,
For I know now the real meaning of Christmas,
It isn't gifts, it isn't family, it isn't friends;
It's just what we ourselves make it, and it can be as gay as we wish or as sad as we wish,
According to the spirit within us.

Everyone had a most delightful time, enjoying the games, songs and dancing with a zest and vigor that seems to come only once a year. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

It was announced that Glendale chapter will go to Fullerton in January to put on the degrees of the order before the chapter there. In February the Pasadena chapter will exemplify the work for the local chapter. LA CRESCENTA NOTES

The regular monthly meeting of the Missionary society will be held next Friday afternoon in the social room of the Community church. As this is the last meeting of the year, many interesting subjects will be up for discussion. This day also marks the first meeting of the society in the new church.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Stivers of 143 East Mayfield avenue returned yesterday from a short stay in Long Beach.

S. M. Meyers of South Ramsdale avenue is subdividing his valuable acreage, located on Honolulu and Ramsdale avenue. A number of other five and ten-acre tracts in this vicinity will be cut up into small lots and placed on the market in the near future. Transportation and the close proximity of church and schools makes this location ideal for homesites.

The first meeting of the year of the La Crescenta Improvement association, which will be held Thursday, January 3, at the school auditorium, promises to be particularly interesting. Besides the appointing of committees for the year's work, M. S. Collins, the new president will make this a telephone service session. All residents of La Crescenta who have complaints to make concerning phone service and those who have had applications in without results are requested to write Mr. Collins before this meeting. The maintenance of the local fire department will be another subject of vital interest to all residents of La Crescenta, that will be discussed. The association will give a dance on Saturday evening, December 29, the proceeds to be used for the upkeep of the local fire equipment.

Truths in Epigram

Can man or woman choose duties? No more than they can choose their birthplace or their father and mother.—George Eliot.

The farmer is covetous of his dollar, and with reason. He knows how many strokes of labor it represents.—Emerson.

Do not fell a tree to catch a blackbird.—Chinese proverb.

PUBLIC CURIOSITY AROUSED

It is to be hoped that in due time there shall be a full explanation of the Kels case, whatever may be the fate of the principal in a tragic affair that has been permitted to take on the appearance of being utterly sordid.

Doubtless the case of Kels will be recalled. With the utmost deliberation he murdered a stranger who ostensibly had been hired to work, but really hired to be killed. The body of the stranger was to be so marred by fire that it could be passed as the body of Kels. The latter had planned to disappear, and did so. Thus the supposed widow became entitled to a large sum of insurance. But Kels was caught, confessed freely; was examined as to his sanity and given every possible chance at a fair trial. He was convicted, there being no other course open to the jury, and sentenced to be hanged, as was the assured duty of the court. The date of execution was set in the near future. All over the state there was a feeling that justice had been done with commendable celerity. Kels was taken to the penitentiary to await the day. As to his guilt, and as to his full responsibility, there never has arisen a shadow of doubt. Nevertheless, an active effort to save his neck soon was in progress; at this writing still is in progress.

The governor of the state is credited with saying that the effort is due to a desire to avoid the payment of the insurance. It seems that by the terms of the policy the amount will be due if Kels is hanged as truly as would have been the case had he perished in the flames as pretended. This is a very serious charge. One naturally wonders what right any insurance concern could have to interfere with the processes of the law; wonders also why officials should have so assumed the appearance of lending themselves to the purposes of the accused concern. On these points curiosity is at rather a high pitch, and not likely to subside until there has been a complete explanation.

In ordinary course there would have been nothing further to say as to the mental status of Kels. He was not crazy when he slew his victim. There had been no intimation that he had been crazy prior to that time. There was nothing in his conduct at the penitentiary to suggest the possibility of insanity. Nevertheless it was not only suggested but insisted upon. All this so wholly without apparent reason that the climax of scandal is not to be wondered at, since it was an inevitable result.

CONCERNING LIBERTY

A Russian actress has been sentenced to three years' imprisonment at hard labor. The charge against her was that she had insulted a demonstration of working people at the celebration of the anniversary of the bolshevik revolution. In the circumstances, just as Russia is being painted as the one land in which liberty has a meaning this incident presents interesting aspects.

The woman standing beside her husband had been heard to say, "What a rabble! When will it be over?" For his offense in having had so wicked a remark addressed to rim, the husband lost his position in the theater, a government controlled concern.

Nothing could be more natural than to regard a mass of bolshevists as a "rabble." Probably no other single word could describe it with as much accuracy. The actress was herself a Russian. Doubtless so shocking a display of the status to which her country had fallen was felt by her more poignantly than had she been an alien observer. The latter, expressing an opinion of the spectacle, would have been likely to have qualified the term by a number of adjectives. Mere "rabble" would have been too mild.

And Russia is the regime, or conspiracy, or pretense—whatever may be the proper characterization—that deems itself to have the right to send its emissaries to the United States to spread the gospel of revolution. Aliens in the United States from Russia are permitted to say and do things, that were the case exactly reversed, would mean exile or death. Yet at the idea that the Russian agents here should be hampered in their plotting, senators rise in their places to roar against interfering with the freedom of those who seek to destroy all freedom but that of their masters to be tyrants. Russian bolshevism is a political and social "black plague," and these senators have been exposed to it.

THE UNEMPLOYABLES

Owing to its system of doles, part of the aftermath of the war, England is said to have created a class of unemployables. These are men able to work but quite content not to work while the government puts bread into their mouths. Such industrious instincts as they may have had, have been trained out of them. They are so lazy that even if forced to work they show themselves worthless. They do but little, and that little in a most unsatisfactory fashion. They clutter up the premises, and are in the way of the real toilers. Employers are glad to be rid of the loafers.

In this country there is a class of unemployables, but for its existence there is no similar explanation. They are not fit to be hired, not alone because they are lazy, but that they are vicious. They resent bitterly the fact that to have bread they must earn it. They resent the visible signs of prosperity. They hate the well-to-do. Above all they hate the individual who pays them wages. They declare themselves to be slaves, and plot against the part of society that, not being slaves, they regard as masters, and as such, to be destroyed. They cannot be trusted on any job or in any position. They breed mischief and discord. They organize into bands of protest armed with the weapons of sabotage. Useless, devoid of all decent ambition, they constitute a danger. They commit overt acts of violence; they break laws deliberately; they defy authority, and are deaf to reason.

When they disturb the peace and openly threaten safety, they are put in jail. Thither they march with ribald songs of defiance. In five states they have been sent to the penitentiary in considerable numbers. Their associates as yet uncaught, are now threatening to make war upon these states. The only proper answer would be the grabbing of the associates and their placing with the aggregation now inside the walls.

The man who will not work has no right to eat. The man who make a regular business of expressing hatred for the country sheltering him, it too well treated when allowed to be at large in the land to which he is a burden and a menace. These unemployables could be employed under duress. They could be made to contribute their share to the total of productivity. It is an error or judgment to permit them to go about as agents of idleness and violence, when, provided with keepers, they could be breaking rock for the highway.

The Evening Post of New York has passed to the ownership of Cyrus K. Curtis. Mr. Curtis already was about as busy a publisher as any. Whatever his purpose in making the purchase, it is sure that he is free from the Munsey habit of buying a paper for the pleasure of witnessing its expiring gasps.

A packing company pleaded guilty to sending a short weight shipment of butter. For this offense it was given the staggering fine of $100. Seldom has a judicial slap on the wrist been so gently administered.

Prize rings are the proper place to strike a man for cash.

Many shady reputations are due to the casting of reflections.

WOMEN VS. WOMEN

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

The women of Boston have voted down a proposal that would have given them equal salaries with men for the same kind of work.

Estella Lawton Lindsey

Frankly it was a treacherous proceeding; and a woman who wishes to be proud of her sex can not but blush with shame when considering it. Naturally all the adverse votes were not cast by women, but it is known that at the election when the measure was submitted to vote the women turned out heavily.

Just how a woman who reasons can cast her vote against a measure extending to her sex simple justice is a mystery to a straight thinking person.

Admitting that women by virtue of their sex are handicapped in the economic struggle, admitting further that the very nature of our civilization drives millions of them out of their homes to work, we must still admit, if we are honest, that they in all cases must do better work than men to retain their positions.

It costs women more to live than it does men. Their clothes, their housing, their laundry, almost every factor that enters into their lives makes living for them higher and more difficult than for men.

The very element of safety and the further element of respectability which must surround women who hold places of trust and responsibility have to be paid for. To scale down the cost of living is to scale down the opportunities for advancement.

Moreover, it costs women more to maintain themselves in health and efficiency than it costs men to do the same thing, first because of the greater complexity and delicacy of their physical structure, second because there are fewer clubs and organizations through which by co-operation women may attain accommodations such as men enjoy in clubs.

The palpable injustice of asking a woman to do the same work as a man for less pay when her body, her social needs, the solidarity of masculine prejudice and many other things already handicap her in the struggle for existence is so evident that one can only look with scorn on the feeble jealousy shown by the women who are securely provided for toward their less fortunate sisters.

If women are to merit the esteem which they desire to enjoy from men they had better begin by boning up on justice in its application to their own sex.

The result of the Boston election is a disgrace to the Boston women.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

The lady of my house has, thanks to a kind Providence, a warm and kindly heart. Strangers tell her their troubles. Life stories are poured in her lap. The most extraordinary confessions are made to her. The reason is, of course, that she is interested. She really wants to know. We—all of us—open up like flowers under a kindly sun.

"What do you think I heard today?" said she

Then she went back to the Crusaders, in order to get a proper running start at the yarn. Eventually she disclosed that the woman who urges clients to buy her cold cream at the beauty shop had felt the need of confession. Mrs. Pilgrim had stated that she did not feel well.

"She began the queerest line of patter," said my adorable wife. "Began to ask me about symptoms and all that. Then she stopped.

"'Listen,' she said, being one of those who always preface a statement by "listen." 'I'm not going to fool you. You're too nice. Don't you go to a surgeon and get operated on.'"

My wife said she just started. She had not had the faintest idea of going to a doctor or getting operated on. But that fell desire to tell the truth had taken firm hold on the cold cream lady.

"That's a side line of mine," she said. "I am a puller-in for Doc Marx and Whoopenstein and Maryvale. I get to talking to a lady like you and she tells me how she feels and I sympathize with her and next time she comes in I ask how is she, and by and by I tell her:

"'I don't want to frighten you, but if I were you I'd go see Dr. Marx. Maybe there's something seriously wrong with you. I used to know a little lady in Chicago who suffered just like you do and she wouldn't go see a doctor and so she died.'"

The puller-in gets twenty per cent of the fees she said

I'm not inclined to blame her so much, somehow She's a poor devil, my wife says, and has grace enough to be ashamed. But what do you think of a surgeon who would muddy his hands that way! And by comparison just how high do sewer cleaners rate?

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY

A Brief History

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

CHAPTER SIX

REPUBLICAN POLICIES DURING THE CIVIL WAR

Senator Douglas immediately offered his support to President Lincoln and thousands of Northern Democrats entered the Union armies and fought side by side with their Republican brethren and soldiers of other political faiths. Men of all parties who rallied to the support of their country are entitled to their full credit for winning the war on the field of battle.

Yet it must be stated in fairness that the policies which financed the war and carried it to a successful conclusion were entirely the handiwork of the first Republican president and his administration. To quote again from Curtis' admirable work on the Republican party: "There will never be the slightest hesitancy to award full praise and honor to the soldier in the field, from the highest to the humblest position, and yet we must never forget the work done at Washington, not only at the capitol, where the great financial and other measures were framed and adopted which gave the means for carrying on the prolonged conflict; but at the departments, where cabinet officers and their associates were planning, not only for the armies in the field, but for the government in all its phases and needs, and at the White House, where the president himself, was exerting an executive leadership never equaled in the history of civilization. It was necessary that we should have courage, firmness and decision on almost every day and every hour of the day during the mighty struggle; it was necessary that we should have diplomacy of the highest order; it was necessary that financial measures should be originated and adopted to meet the expenses which were to run up into the thousands of millions. For the carrying out of these many and important and necessary acts of war, credit must be given to the great Republican party and its chosen leaders during those four awful years of conflict and sorrows."

A Call For Volunteers

On April 15 the president called for 75,000 volunteers and the proclamation was enthusiastically received in every Union state. With the exception of Rhode Island the governor and legislature of every northern state east of the Rockies was Republican. Governor Sprague, of Rhode Island was elected as an independent but his state did not lag behind in the support of the Union cause.

Closely following this call for volunteers four more southern states left the Union: Arkansas, North Carolina, Tennessee and Eastern Virginia. The western part of Virginia refused to secede and became the Union state of West Virginia. There was much loyal sentiment in portions of Eastern Virginia and in Tennessee but the presence of Confederate troops forced these two states to secede.

The Thirty-seventh congress met in Washington on July 4, 1861. The senate had 31 Republicans to 11 Democrats. The House was Republican, 159 to 99, and elected Galusha A. Brow, speaker. Both houses approved the action which had been taken by President Lincoln with an almost unanimous vote. The Congress provided for the raising of revenue to carry on the war, duties on imports were increased, and a loan of $250,000,000 authorized, together with an issue of $50,000,000 in treasury notes. Congress adjourned early in August and met again in December. The question of emancipating the slaves came up but no action was taken. Resolutions looking toward peace and reconciliation were introduced but without result.

The object of the Union strategy was to blockade all southern ports, open the Mississippi river, break the Confederate lines in the west and then march east to capture Virginia. The first year of the war ended April 12, 1862, without decisive results. The Union forces had lost the opening battle at Bull Run, but in the spring of 1862 an important naval engagement had been won by the North when the Monitor defeated the Merrimac. And decisive victories had been won in the west in the capture of Fort Henry and Fort Donelson and in the defeat of the Confederates at Pittsburg Landing and Island Number 10.

President Lincoln on April 16, 1862, approved a bill abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia and providing compensation for the owners. A resolution was passed also setting out that the Federal government would co-operate with any state which might decide on gradual abolishment of slavery, by giving such state pecuniary aid to be used to compensate the slave owners.

Grant's Victories

The victories of Grant in the west encouraged the North to believe that the war would soon be over. But a man had been called to the command of the Confederate armies whose military genius was to prolong the conflict through many weary months. That man was Robert E. Lee.

In the meantime the demand for the emancipation of the slaves grew stronger in the North and a preliminary proclamation was issued by President Lincoln immediately after the battle of Antietam in which the Southern armies in the east had received a serious check. This was on August 22, 1862. The final proclamation of emancipation was issued on January 1, 1863, and set out that "all persons held as slaves within any states or designated parts of states, the people whereof shall then be in rebellion against the United States shall be then, thereneceforward, and overever free."

The most important legislation of the session of Congress, convening in December, 1862, was the establishment of a national currency through a national banking system. This law provided that the National banks might buy government bonds and deposit these with the government, and issue and circulate currency up to the value of 90 per cent of the bonds purchased and deposited. This law gave the country a safe circulating medium and created a demand for United States bonds, bolstering up the confidence in the financial stability of the country.

Internal revenue acts were passed July 1, 1862, to raise funds to prosecute the war and together with the high tariff laws were good revenue producers. In addition the heavy tariff stimulated American industries and manufacturing in the country steadily increased. To quote again from Curtis:

"The finances of the country, its method of taxation, the loans and credits, and payments, were as near perfect as human wisdom could devise. Secretary Chase vindicated fully the wisdom of his selection by the president at the head of the nations finances at such a critical perir of our history. His grasp of the situation, his lucid method of transmitting his recommendations to Congress, and in return the prompt acquiescence by our national legislators in the suggestions of the Secretary, as found in about twentyfive fiscal and financial acts during the war, all did much toward maintaining our national credit both at home and abroad, and in securing to our industries and for our people security and safety for property and investments. The expenses growing out of the war were enormous and required prompt and effective action, but they were met, as far as was consistent with proper debate over measures and careful consideration, as promptly as both the president and secretary, as well as the great mass of financial institutions, could desire. The Republicans in both senate and house were harmonious in favor of sound financiering, and to their number, it is a pleasure to say, were added the votes of many loyal Democrats. The Thirty-seventh congress expired on March 4, 1863, having confined its legislation almost entirely to revenue and financial measures, and to laws otherwise upholding the president."

Union Forces Successful

The second year of the war closing in April, 1863, had been on the whole successful for the Union forces. The greatest success had been the taking of New Orleans. The attempted invasion of the North by General Lee had met with disaster at Antietam. The slaves had been emancipated and the North was now fighting not only to restore the Union but to restore the Union free. The only consolation from the Southern viewpoint was that the Union army was apparently no nearer the capture of Richmond than the year before.

The close of the third year of the war in April, 1864, saw the beginning of the end. The climax had come in the important battle at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, when Lee's second invasion of the north met a disastrous defeat in which the southern army barely escaped annihilation. At the same time (July, 1863) Grant hahd captured Vicksburg and reopened the Mississippi to navigation.

In the meantime there occurred in Ohio the now notorious Vallandingham incident which had an important effect on the political campaign of 1864. C. L. Valladingham, a member of the Thirty-seventh congress was defeated for re-election in 1862 in Ohio by General Robert C. Schenck. Vallandingham, revengeful because of his defeat, returned to Ohio and made addresses against te Federal government. He was acclaimed as a hero by the so-called "Copperhead" or disloyal element in his home state. As a result of his disloyal speeches he was arrested, tried and held in Cincinnati as a military prisoner sentenced to confinement as long as the war lasted. His friends attempted to make a martyr of him and he was enthusiastically nominated by the Democratic state convention in 1863 for governor of Ohio. If elected his supporters stated that he wolud be escorted to Columbus by a mob of Democrats big enough to overcome Federal resistance. President Lincoln refused to release Vallandingham but commuted his sentence to banishment within the Confederate lines. In the meantime, however, the prisoner escaped and fled to Canada.

The Anti-War Patry

Democratic meetings everywhere condemned the arrest of Vallandingham and the incident was to give the Democratic politicians an excuse to make their party an anti-war party in 1864. The president in commenting on the Vallandingham incident declared that Mr. Vallandingham was not arrested because he was damaging the political prospects of the administration, or the personal interests of the commanding general, but because he was damaging the army, upon the existence and vigor of which the life of the nation depended.

"Must I," the president asked, "shoot a simple-minded soldier boy who deserts while I must not touch a hair of a wily agitator who in[illegible] in such case to silence the agitator and save the boy is not only constitutional but withal a great mercy."

The Vallandingham incident, however, and the resistance to the draft in certain localities did not have a material effect on the off-year elections of 1863. The Republicans were generally successful in the Union states and Vallandingham was defeated in Ohio by over 100,000 majority. The Thirty-eighth congress, which had been chosen in November, 1862, met December 7, 1863, and Schuyler Colfax of Indiana was elected speaker by a vote of 101 to 81. In the senate there were 36 Republicans and nine Democrats. The congress heartily supported the administration and additional revenue acts were passed. Laws were enacted also providing for the coining of one and two-cent pieces, for appointing a Commissioner of Immigration and encouraging immigration, and for establishing money order offices.

BURBANK NOTES

The installation of officers of the Burbank Kiwanis club will take place Friday evening at the Palais Majestic ball room, with a dinner, dance and lavish entertainment. This will be for the members and their wives or sweethearts, only. Many surprise features are being planned and this will be one of the big events of the year.

The directors of the Burbank chamber of commerce will hold a get-together and get-acquainted banquet during the week of January 14, to be held at the Presbyterian church hall. The entertainment committee, Mrs. May Clark, chairman; Dave Bricker and Dr. D. Thomson, were instructed to arrange for the same and to also arrange for the entertainment, speakers and program in general. The dinner will be cooked and served by the Presbyterian ladies and we know it will be a delicious one. Tickets will be sold in advance at a nominal charge. All are urged to attend as there are great things planned for this event. The exact date for the banquet will be set and announced later.

Burbank building permits for the year 1923 are steadily mounting towards the two million dollar goal that Inspector William Coryell has set for this year. There is as yet about $50,000 to make up the mark and Mr. Coryell is confident that it will be over two million. The permits issued today were: J. F. Clain, Landis street, 5 rooms, $3000; Walter A. Hochin, 3 rooms, $1200; Mrs. Finch, 1075 North Cypress avenue, 5 rooms, $4000; Frank Orchard, Floyd street, 2 rooms, $200; Juan Hernandez, dwelling, Front and Verdugo streets, $300; B. J. Farley, 473 Santa Anita, 5 rooms, $4000; B. J. Farley, 471 Santa Anita, 5 rooms, $4000; B. J. Farley, 469 Santa Anita, 5 rooms, $4000.

MONTROSE NOTES

Of all the busy places in Montrose during the pre-Christmas rush, the local postoffice was the busiest. Although the postoffice here was established less than six months ago, it is already getting beyond the bounds of a fourth class department, and it is probable that its classification may be changed in the near future if the amount of incoming mail continues as heavy as it is at present. Mrs. Brown, postmistress, states that previous to the Christmas rush an average of five sacks of mail came in each day, and during the holidays there were [illegible] five and six sacks three times a day. At present the remuneration is based on a percentage of the stamps canceled, but in case the classification of the postal station is changed, it is based on a commission.

Mrs. S. McNeill, formerly of Los Angeles, has secured a little cottage north of Michigan avenue, and will make her home here in the future.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new Belanger building which is being constructed just west of the drug store on the corner of Montrose and Honolulu avenues. The walls are plastered inside and the stucco work on the outside is completed, all but the tinting. Work today was begun on the laying of the floor, and when that is done the finish work on the building will begin. It is expected that the building will be entirely completed by the fifteenth of January, and the new occupants will shortly take possession. Harding and Brown, local business men, intent to use the building as an up-to-date men's store.

This morning at 3:30 a lovely eight and one-half pound boy arrived in the world, to bless the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Pantzer, Montrose residents. The little lad was born at the Glendale Research hospital.

MAIDSTONE, Saskatchewan.—A late report fo record-breaking crop returns comes from the Maidstone District, where Rowlin Bros. sowed eight acres of oats for green feed; they threshed the crop, which yielded 125 bushels to the acre. The cut was made after the heavy frosts and weighed 40 pounds to the bushel.

LETHBRIDGE, Alberta.—Seventy bushels of wheat to the acre, all grading No. 1, on 100 acres of summer fallow, is reported from Creek. This is the outstanding southern Alberta wheat yield reported this year.

Modern Version of New Testament

"There was once a rich man, who used to dress in purple and fine linen, and to live n luxury every day. And a beggar named Lazarus was put down at his gate covered with sores and eager to satisfy his hunger with what was thrown away from the rich man's table. Why, the very dogs came and licked his sores. And it came about that the beggar died and was carried away by the angels to the companionship of Abraham, and the rich man, too, died and was buried. And in hades he looked up, tormented as he was, and saw Abraham far away with Lazarus beside him. And he called to him and said, 'Father Abraham! take pity on me, and send Lazarus to dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue, for I am in torment here in the flames!' And Abraham said, 'My child, remember that you received your blessings in your lifetime and Lazarus had his misfortunes in his; and now he is being comforted here, while you are in anguish. Besides there is a great chasm set between you and us, so that those who want to go over from this side to you cannot, and they cannot cross from your side to us.' And he said, 'Then I beg you, father, to send him to my father's house, for I have five brothers; let him warn them so that they will not also come to this place of torture.' Abraham answered, 'They have Moses and the prophets; let them listen to them.' But he said, 'No! Father Abraham, but if someone will go to them from the dead they will repent!' He answeed, 'If they will not listen to Moses and the prophets they will not be convinced even if someone rises from the dead!'"

And he said to his disciples:

"It is inevitable that hindrances should arise, but alas for the man who causes them! He might better have a millstone hung around his neck and be thrown into the sea, than be a hindrance to one of these humble people. Look out for yourseves! If your brother wrongs you, take it up with him, and if he repents, forgive him. And if he wrongs you seven times a day, and seven times urns to you and says, 'I am sorry,' you must forgive him."

The apostles said to the Master:

"Give us more faith."

And the Master said:

"If your faith is as big as a mustard seed you might have said to this mulberry tree, 'Be pulled up by the roots and planted in the sea,' and it would have obeyed you.

"What man among you, if he has a servant plouging or keeping sheep, will say to him when he comes in from the field, 'Come at once and sit down at the table instead of saying to him, 'Get my supper ready and dress yourself, and wait on me while I eat and drink, and you can eat and drink afterward?' Is he grateful to the slave for doing what he has been ordered to do? So you also, when you do all you have been ordered to do must say, 'We are good-for-nothing slaves! We have done only what we ought to have done!'"

It happened that on his way to Jerusalem he passed through Samaria and Galilee. And as he was going into one village he met ten lepers and they stood at some distance from him and raising their voices said:

"Jesus, Master, take pity on us!"

And when he saw them he said to them:

"Go and show yourselves to the priests."

And as they went they were cured. But one of them, when he saw that he was cured, came back, loudly praising God, and fell on his face at Jesus' feet and thanked him. He was a Samaritan. And Jesus said:

"Were not all ten cured? Where are the other nine? Was no one found to return and give thanks to God except this foreigner?"

And he said to him:

"Stand up and go! Your faith has cured you."

He was once asked by the Pharisees when the Kingdom of God would come and he answered:

"The Kingdom of God is not coming visibly, and people will not say, 'Look! Here it is!' or 'There it is!' for the Kingdom of God is within you."

And he said to his disciples:

"The time will come when you will long to see one of the days of the Son of Man, and you will not be able to do so. Men will say to you, 'Look! There he is!' or 'Look! Here he is!' Do not go off in pursuit of him, for just as when the lightning flashes, it shines from one end of the sky to the other, that will be the way with the Son of Man. But first he must go through much suffering and be refused by this age. In the time of the Son of Man it will be just as it was in the time of Noah. People went on eating, drinking, marrying, and being married up to the very day that Noah got into the ark and the flood came and destroyed them all. Or as it was in Lot's time; they went on eating, drinking, buying, selling, planting and building, but the day Lot left Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven and destroyed them all. It will be like that on the day when the Son of Man appears. A man who is on the roof of his house that day, with his goods in the house, must not turn back. Remember Lot's wife! Whoever tries to preserve his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life will preserve it. I tell you, there will be two men in the same bed that night; one will be taken and the other left. There will be two women grinding together; one will be taken and the other left!"

They said to him:

"Where will this be, Master?"

And he said to them:

"Wherever there is a dead body the vultures will flock!"

He gave them an illustration to show that they must always pray and not give up and he said:

"There was once in a city a judge who had no fear of God and no respect for men. There was a widow in the city and she came to him and said, 'Protect me from my opponent.' And he would not for a time, but afterward he said to himself, 'Though I have no fear of God nor respect for men, yet because this widow bothers me I will protect her, so that she may not finally wear me out with her coming.'"

And the Master said:

"Listen to what this dishonest judge said! Then will not God provide protection for his chosen people, who cry out to him day and night? I tell you, he will make haste to provide it! But when the Son of Man comes will he find faith on earth?"

To some who were confident of their own uprightness, and thought nothing of others, he used this illustration:

"Two men went up to the Temple to pray; one was a Pharisee and the other a tax collector. The Pharisee stood up and uttered this prayer to himself: 'O God, I thank you that I am not like other men, greedy, dishonest or adulterous, like that tax collector. I fast two days in the week; I pay tithes on everything I get.' But the tax collector stood at a distance and would not even raise his eyes to heaven, but struck his breast and said, 'O God, have mercy on a sinner like me!' I tell you, it was he who went back to his house with God's approval and not the other. For everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but the man who humbles himself will be exalted."

People brought babies to him to have him touch them, but the disciples, when they saw it, reproved them for it. But Jesus called them up to him and said:

The beauty of it is that you get two papers for the price of one. The initial 75 cents is within your means, you do not need a physical examination and your age is not questioned up to 7

Many a man would willingly invest in insurance for his family, but cannot, as he has passed the last year that the company will insure him. Also he cannot pass the rigid examination.

This covers you against accident to the person while in an automobile or if you are hit by one.

Don't let 75 cents stand between you and the way to protection.

Get in on it today. Phone the Glendale Press, Glendale 96 or 97, and we will send a man to you at once to take your subscription and insure you.

Are You Next?

The Glendale Press today offers to its hosts of subscribers the most surprising comprehensive accident insurance policy ever placed at the service of the public. Its protection to the beneficiary is large and assured. It is given free, premium paid, to Glendale Press subscribers with but a nominal registry fee.

A bigger, better and broader policy even than that given applying subscribers by the Glendale Press and Los Angeles Express last year—and that is saying much, for tens of thousands of Angelenos and residents of outlying cities and communities testified by prompt subscription and application to the unusually liberality of this last year's Press-Express accident insurance policy.

The extraordinary insurance offer the Daily Press makes to its subscribers from today on covers the pedestrian, the man in the street, as well as the occupant of a conveyance. By taking out a policy with the Press now you will be financially protected in case you are struck, knocked down or run over by a vehicle and suffer any of the losses set forth in the policy.

The list of losses insured against is offered and the amount of insurance follows: Life, $1000; both hands, both feet, sight of both eyes, one hand and one foot, one hand and sight of one eye, or one foot and sight of one eye, $250; either hand, either foot, sight of either eye, $125.

In addition, if the insured shall during one year from the beginning of the insurance covering be immediately and wholly disabled and prevented from performing any and every duty pertaining to his or her business, $10 a week will be paid for a period not exceeding three months.

Another point: Each consecutive year's renewal of the Express and Daily Press policy will add 10 per cent to the amount payable until such addition reaches 50 per cent of the original amount.

The insured will also be protected in the same amounts in the case of sustaining the specified losses in the wrecking of conveyances.

SPORT -O- GRAMS

FRANCIS W. READ

Basketball this year should stage the greatest comeback that any sport has seen for a long time. Quite a while ago the hoop game was exceedingly popular and then for no reason at all it seemed to go on the down grade. Last season it greatly increased in popularity and this year is due to be installed as one of the greatest of the sports.

The indoor court game is just about as fast as they make them. Some not acquainted with the game have the idea that it is rather tame. All of which goes to show that those who make such allegations have never witnessed a game of basketball. The cage game requires more speed and training than does even the strenuous game of football. Not only must the player be in physical condition for the actual playing, but he must be in action every minute of the game, for the court is so small and the play so rapid that he may be called upon at any moment. The ball is in motion every minute and it is difficult for either side to keep the oval in its possession for a long time at a stretch. The scores are made in such rapid succession and in such unexpected moments that the game assumes a spectacular aspect greater than is found in any other sport.

It seems that in the Southern California Intercollegiate conference, basketball has been made a major sport. The colleges and universities in that organization are now preparing for the greatest basketball season in the history of the game. Last season capacity crowds attended the melon games and it was found necessary to limit the number of spectators and admit no one who had not secured a ticket in advance. This season some of the institutions have constructed new courts and no doubt they will be filled to capacity.

The Southern California conference race seems to promise much excitement for the coming year. All prospects point to a contest as close as the one that left Pomona and Caltech tied for first honors in football. Southern Branch University of California and Occidental seem the best bets in the basketball line this season. For three years the Cubs have taken everything in sight as far as the hoop game goes and Caddy Works' bunch of casaba chasers threaten to pull the same old trick again in 1924. Three of the last year's quintet are back on the job and going strong, with many men from last season's freshman or second string teams.

Out at Occidental it looks like the Tigers have a chance to give the Cubs a mighty hard scrap. The Orange and Black quintet looks like a very dangerous squad and should prove a sticker for the champions. Redlands looks like a tough aggregation also. The Bulldogs defeated the Cubs last year in one of the two games the teams played, and have a chance to spill the Bruins again this season. Most of the last year's team are back on the job. Pomona looks fair, but very few of last season's vets are back and it is hard to judge just what the Sagehens have. Whittier and Caltech do not seem to have such bright basketball prospects but you never can tell what will happen. The season openes the latter part of January, and from then on there will be one hot race for the title.

LEGION HOOPSTERS PLAY VICTORY QUINTET

Basketball players of the Glendale American Legion post who expected a game last night were doomed to disappointment. The Hellman Bank five of Los Angeles scheduled to meet the local Legionnaires in a return game at the High school gymnasium failed to show up, and consequently no game was played.

Tonight the Legion quintet is scheduled to meet the Victory Post of Los Angeles in a regular game of the American Legion league. The locals stand at the top of the Legion loop with two victories and no defeats to their credit. They are going strong and in the form they are in at present should crush all opposition. Reports that the Victory five were a weak lot seem to be without foundation. The Los Angeles boys look good and will be a tough nut for the locals to crack. The Glendale lineup will be as follows: W. Brown, G. E. Leggitt and A. G. Wheelon, forwards; W. E. Beach and W. Bunker, centers; W. E. Hibbert, Nelson Ed Austin and Harry Painter, guards.

WEST IS LOSER IN THE ONLY ONE EAST-WEST GAME

Since 1916 six football games have been played between eastern and western universities at Pasadena, the west winning four, losing one and tying one.

With these statistics to face, the United States Naval Academy will enter the game with the University of Washington New Year's day with a handicap as far as gridiron contests are concerned.

Other games at Pasadena include two clashes between the University of Oregon and the University of California and a single contest between the University of Southern California and Washington State college.

The only game lost by the west during this period was the Harvard-Oregon game which gave the east a 7 to 6 victory. Washington State college, under Lone Star Diets, opened the annual classic in 1916 with a 14 to 0 victory over Brown university.

There was a game in 1919, but it was between service elevens and not college teams. The Great Lake training eleven defeated the Mare Island Marines, 17 to 0.

Following is the statistical record of Pasadena's New Year's day football games:

1916—Washington State, 0; Brown, 0.
1917—Oregon, 14; Pennsylvania, 0.
1918—War year, no game.
1919—No varsity game.
1920—Harvard, 7; Oregon, 6.
1921—California, 28; Ohio State, 0.
1922—California, 0; Washington and Jefferson, 0.
1923—Southern California, 14; Penn State, 3.

Fish makes good bait for some animals in cold weather. It smells even though it is frozen, especially fresh salmon. Try other kinds if this is not obtainable. Chicken heads, crow carcasses, etc., also are good for the carniverous animals.

Few men can afford to stand on their dignity all of the time. It is necessary to get off and hustle once in a while.

ATTENDANCE FALLS OFF AT CULVER CITY TRACK

After getting off to a flying start on the opening day, the racing at the new Culver City track took a decided slump yesterday. Less than 2000 spectators were on hand, in contrast to a crowd of more than 20,000 on Christmas day. However, Dick Ferris, manager of the track, stated that he expected a slump in the crowd on the day after Christmas, but anticipated a steady gain from now on with big days on Saturday, Sundays and New Year's day.

The big race of the day was captured by E. O. O'Connell's Ethel Brown. It was a five-furlong race and carried a purse of $1000. The mare was in a commanding position all the way but had to be ridden hard in the last eighth because Brazos was threatening under a ride by Buel.

Only one lone would-be bettor who showed the bad judgment to pass another man a $2 bill fell into the clutches of the law. He was escorted off the track by Detective Claude Smith, head of the Ferris detectives. Because it was a first offense no arrest was made.

Burns' detectives, employed by Ferris, Culver City police and deputy sheriffs, patrolled the track to see that there was no betting. The regulars were there in full force and took up a new position in front of the grandstand. They all sat tight yesterday and aside from the one man who was escorted off the track no one tried to pass money.

A muskrat trap is only fifty per cent effective if it is improperly set. The animal's forefoot can be twisted off so easily that it is rarely caught and held by the forefoot unless the trap has been set close to a moderately deep hole where another stake has been placed to tangle the chain when the "rat" makes for deep water after being caught, thus drowning it before it can twist loose.

HUSKIES RESUME PRACTICE, LEAVE SEATTLE FRIDAY

[By Associated Press]

SEATTLE, Dec. 27.—Football practice was resumed here yesterday by the University of Washington gridiron team after a layoff over Christmas in preparation for its game with the United States Naval Academy at Pasadena New Year's day.

Workouts today and Friday will precede the departure of the Huskies for Pasadena at midnight Friday.

The question, "what will be the mental attitude of the two teams?" when George Varnell, referee fo the game calls Carney of the Navy and Hall of Washington together for the flip-up on the Rose Bowl field, has been brought up by fans here. Nearly 29,000 sailors from United States battleships which will be anchored off San Pedro, are expected to attend the game, according to word received here. Washington's section will be filled with approximately 500 fans, it has been estimated.

The Navy has an axe to grind in the coming battle, as Coach "Rusty" Callow of the Washington crew won from the Middies at the Poughkeepsie regatta last year.

The elk, antelope, prairie chicken, and all the plains' game, may in time be nearly wiped out, but with millions of acres of rocky, wooded country that can never be farmed we ought to have deer, some bear and turkeys, and grouse and pheasants. We will never have another abundance of squirrels without another growth of heavy—and old—timber.

Don't leave loaded firearms where children can get hold of them. Many accidents occur for this reason. The safest way is to unload them—chamber and magazine—before taking them into the house.—Sportsman's Digest.

He is a lucky man who doesn't believe in luck.

WILLIAMS SELECTS UMPIRES FOR 1924 SEASON IN LEAGUE

The question of umpires, which for a long time has caused considerable trouble in the Coast league, is about to be settled. President Harry Williams announced that a staff of nine men was about determined on and that contracts would be sent out today. Until acceptances are received the personnel will not be officially announced.

President Williams let it be known, however, that Jack Carroll, one of last year's crop who had been in several jams, was to be retained and given another chance. Carroll is expected to fill the utility berth and to act as the third man in an important series. Carroll has an invalid wife and four youngsters and President Williams said that he was not disposed to make Carroll take a job east that entailed double expense.

Bill Phyle, a capable arbiter who left the Coast league in 1922 to act in the American association, has applied to transfer back here and stands a good chance of having his application granted. Pyhle was rated as a very capable official. Bill Guthrie, another whose work is well and favorably known here, is to be placed and Ted McGrew is another who is said to be slated for a return berth.

That will make the completed staff read: Guthrie, Phyle, Casey, Riordan, McGrew, Carroll, Becker, Finney and one other.

Who that other is remains to be seen—Towman or Ward may get the place, but it looks like the former has the edge. President Williams announced that, more than 300 applications for umpiring jobs had been received and that a dozen of them were being considered. Bill Byron, the "singing umpire," has requested and been given a transfer to the International league.

When washing greasy dishes add a few drops of liquid ammonia to the water. The work will be more quickly and thoroughly done.

NAVY TEAM LOOKS GOOD IN WORKOUT ON CHICAGO FIELD

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—After a workout on the Stagg field, their last real practice before they arrive in Pasadena, and a trip to see the sights of the town, the Navy football team, led by Coach Bob Fowell, left Chicago on the Santa Fe at eight o'clock last night for California. The squad arrived here on the Capitol Limited, unlimbered, looked around a bit and then departed.

The practice indulged in on Stagg Field consisted in two teams going through signal drill. To see the squads work carried one back to the days when Fowell himself was a grid star. His charges appeared to be fine specimens of American young manhood, Carney, the captain, is a young giant with thighs as big as a 50-year-old pine trunk. He knows the value of shifting from guard to end on defense and it is presumed he is good on forward passes.

The Navy has fine, big, plunging backs who hit the line out of a cloud of players and buck like old-fashioned line plungers and evidently hit hard enough to dent a brick wall. The formations tried were simple and of a past age. They were executed with speed which should easily plow through many good teams. The forward passing game is speedy with the receivers on the run.

Most of the passes tried were of a short, just over the line variety. This gives the team an even chance of recovering in case of a fumble or too short a pass.

The team has a good kicker in Carney, who boots the ball some forty-five yards under depressing rain conditions on a slippery field. They have a special drop kicker, Ballenger, to slide into the game and try for goals.

All in all, the team is well equipped to play a game of football. Bob Fowell said that the last time he took the team out there they ran into snow. He is hoping for frost by January 1.

The second team looks like it had not clung to training rules since the season closed. The first team was in fine condition and worked fast on the slippery field. Fowell did not do so much shifting of linemen in the practice. He may shift a great deal on certain plays which he carries. The left half back calls the signals. The players are orators and talk freely to the coach commenting on his instructions or his occasional call for a signal.

Curing your Golf Troubles

By Jim Barnes

Dear Mr. Barnes: I find no end of trouble in trying to play short approach shots from 15 to 35 and 40 yards off the green. I don't know whether it is because I don't take the proper stance or not, but I don't seem able to get a comfortable, steady position, and as a result frequently stab the ball, allowing the club to step as it strikes the ground, sending the ball only a few yards. How can I go about correcting this trouble? H. H. M.

Answer: For playing these strokes I recommend that you take a fairly open stance with the ball close in. Settle the weight well back on the heels, with the right leg carrying more than the left. Very little body action is necessary, and as in putting you want to get the weight set to avoid swaying the body.

Then take note of the position of the arms. They should be kept in close to the body, with the right elbow especially close in to the side. Keep that elbow there as a kind of anchor or marker to regulate the length of the backswing. In doing this, you will swing more around than you are probably doing now. In fact, I should guess that most of your trouble comes from letting the right arm work out too far from the body.

Take the club back smoothly and deliberately on the backswing, and don't be in too big a hurry to hit the ball. The trick, of keeping the elbow in against the side will help to steady the stroke, making you conscious of the fact that you have reached the proper limit of the backswing, when you get to where a further upward movement would mean taking the elbow away from the side. Haste in taking the club back and rushing it through frequently spoils strokes of this kind.

Don't put your rifle away without thoroughly cleaning and oiling. This is especially necessary with .22 and 'other small caliber rifles. It is the misuse rather than the use that destroys the life and accuracy of arms.

Things that are easy to do are seldom worth the effort.

PRESBYTERIANS TO DEDICATE SUNDAY

which will doubtless be memorable in religious annals of Glendale.

All attendants on the 10:30 services will be guests of the church at dinner, served in the new banquet rooms. All are invited to remain to share in the hospitality and Christian fellowship of this most friendly people.

At 2:30, tender and impressive memorial services will be held in honor of members of the Bible school and church who have gone on into the "great beyond." Perhaps your own children or parents will be among those who will be eulogized by W. J. Clendenin, H. L. Finlay, J. C. Sherer and others. The necrology of this great church contains names intimately identified with the beginnings and development of Glendale. All should join in honoring their memory and celebrating their character and worth.

Perhaps the most picturesque feature of the day will be an address by Judge Robert H. Scott on "The Old Days and the Old Ways and the Old Friends." This address is not theological, but historical. He will hark back to the days when coyotes howled, the owls screeched, rattlers hissed and buffalo thundered o'er these plains, and red men wondered and looked on the advent of the paleface in the haunts of their fathers. He will deal with early explorations and the development of this wonderful golden coast, industrially, socially, commercially, religiously, politically. He will tell of the days of pioneer privations, tried friendships, honest-to-goodness worth. This gifted speaker richly merits the great audience expected to hear his unique address.

At 7:30, Evangelist Snively will assemble answers given by modern science, philosophy and the new interpretations or relations to that age-old question, "If a man die, shall he live again?" This address has been given in college lectureships, on Chautauqua platforms in many cities, and it is believed will be helpful to the great audience expected at this hour. The closing address of the day will be by Dr. Stewart P. MacLennan, moderator of the Los Angeles Presbytery, and will be a fitting climax to a most memorable chapter in the history of this church.

Dr. W. E. Edmonds, the minister, and his officiary, are greatly pleased with the preparations in the making of this historic event. It is requested that citizens wait until 8 a. m. Sunday, December 30, to view the interior of this splendid Christian edifice. A cordial invitation to all citizens, regardless of creed, to throng the courts of this house of God throughout the entire day and evening is extended by minister and people.

GLENDALE TO L. A. ONLY ONE DIME

and synchronize it, we will operate it as we are now doing in addition to the new service.

"As to school service to the new high school plant, when it is in operation, if we have a car full of students from Montrose and La Crescenta, as may happen, we will run the car right through on the Eagle Rock line to Verdugo and Wilson instead of requiring the passengers to come to the station and transfer to an Eagle Rock car. In other words, we will provide special school service morning and evening, if conditions justify."

When asked whether any further extensions of the line on the north to La Canada, Tujunga, Sunland, etc., are contemplated, Mr. Hatch said: "Not at this time. We propose to see how the present expansion program works out. If we make money, we may extend our lines."

Concerning relations with the yellow car line officials, Mr. Hatch declared: "They are most cordial to us and also to the P. E. They are disposed to cooperate with the Glendale-Montrose line in every possible way and to do all they can to build up the service. Any talk that you hear about friction between us and the P. E. is nonsense. There is no feud between us and our relations are entirely friendly. We will continue to be a feeder for that system as well as for the yellow line."

WINNIPSG, Monitoba.—On railways in western Canada more than 250,000,000 bushels of grain have been loaded this season. The quantity loaded from September 1 up to November 27 was 249,950,941 bushels. This, according to railway officials, is nearly 30,000,000 more bushels than was loaded during the same period last year. It is also said to be a larger quantity than has been loaded during a corresponding period in any other year.

A little dried lemon rind added to an apple pie gives it a delicious flavor.

HUNGRY RESIDENTS OF BERLIN BESIEGING BREAD PEDLER

The food shortage in the German capital has become so acute that when bread pedlers appear in the streets they are surrounded by excited crowds of half-starving men, women and children. The photograph shows well-dressed Berliners in the mad scramble to get some of the bread.

NO PRIVATE AUTO CAMP IN GLENDALE

seconded by Councilman Horn. When the vote was taken it resulted as follows: Ayes, Hall, Horn, Kimlin and Robinson. No, Davis.

The city attorney was instructed to draft the necessary proceedings for the establishment of this business district. For several months this matter has been before the council and it was only after thorough consideration that this action was taken.

It is understood that when the proposed ordinance comes before the council it will require a unanimous vote to carry. The action of Councilman Davis forecasts that when this ordinance comes up it will be defeated.

Bids were received and opened for the improvement of the following streets: Concord, Pioneer, Fairmont, Patterson, Thompson, Garfield, Windsor and Los Angeles.

On motion of Councilman Davis, seconded by Councilman Horn, the city attorney was instructed to start proceedings for the widening of Verdugo road from the intersection of that highway and Glendale avenue to the north line of the city of Glendale to 100 feet. This motion was followed by extended discussion in which W. L. Twining, F. P. Newport and the various councilmen took part. When the vote was taken Councilman Davis, Kimlin and Horn voted "aye," while Councilmen Hall and Robinson voted "no." Mayor Robinson stated that he voted against the motion because it would take such a large amount of money to widen the roadway to 100 feet.

The province of Alberta took eight of the first eleven prizes, while two went to Montana and one to Saskatchewan. J. W. Biglands, of Lacombe, Alberta, won the first prize; J. Smith, of Wolf Creek, Alberta, was second. Third prize went to Montana, while the next four were captured by the Alberta entries.

opportunity for additional desirable territory to the north is limited by the Verdugo mountains. Thus Glendale is bounded on three sides by incorporated communities and on the fourth by the mountains. Of the desirable territory within these boundaries eighty per cent is already within the city limits of Glendale. The remaining 20 per cent is provided for by the proposed sewer system, but its manner of annexing to Glendale is not specifically named in the agreement between Los Angeles and Glendale.

Can it be rightfuly said then, that the agreement limits the territorial expansion of Glendale?

The second way by which a city grows is by adding new inhabitants. The potential citizens of a community are of all classes. A city may draw its future population from the wealthy classes, from the well-to-do, from the law-abiding, or from the lawless. She may make her appeal to the class that appreciates good schools, churches and homes, paved streets, parks, waterworks, sewers and all the other conveniences and good influences of modern American life; or, she may be satisfied to receive within her boundaries those who are content to live without humanizing or civilizing agencies, those who do not have the ambition to protest against mediocre living conditions.

The present area of Glendale is only twenty to twenty-five per cent populated. Approximately two hundred thousand more people can be comfortably housed within the city limits, as they are today. The future of Glendale will depend on the character of these two hundred thousand people. It is, however, up to the present inhabitants of Glendale to select these future citizens by making the proper appeal to the right people.

Lack of sewer facilities is a damaging admission to make to a potential citizen who has been accustomed to such conveniences. Such a statement would not make a favorable impression on a man who contemplates establishing a hospital, a hotel, a garage, a restaurant, a bakery, a creamery, a laundry, or anyone of many other types of commercial or industrial enterprises.

On the other hand, the possession of a sanitary sewer system is a mighty agency in attracting desirable people and industries to a city. It is a part of the appeal Glendale must make to the potential citizen if Glendale is to build itself out of the best type of citizenship, and it is for each individual Glendalian to express himself upon this most important question. It is for each voter in Glendale to say what Glendale's appeal to the prospective citizen shall be.

BURBANK C. OF C. HAS A NEW SECRETARY of commerce, which is a real live and thriving chamber.

The meeting was called to order promptly at 7:30 p. m. and the honor roll called. Those present were R. W. Colburn, Thos. Walker, K. K. Simpson, May M. Clark, Dave Bricker, J. H. Barnum and Charles Woods. The roll will be called at each meeting of the directors and anyone absent for three consecutive times without plausible excuse will automatically be dropped and another director appointed in his place, this being provided for in the by-laws.

The first matter to come before the directors was the proposed baseball park for Burbank. Mr. King and Mr. Hughes of Los Angeles appeared personally and had with them their plans and specifications for said grounds. They are baseball promoters and wish to set up a high-class ball park along the same lines as the one now in Glendale, to have a large grandstand, boxes and bleachers and wish a tract of land to be leased and donated to them somewhere on the boulevard. They contend that it would be a unique and profitable way to advertise Burbank and that if each merchant would donate one suit that they would carry the advertisement of that particular merchant on the back of the suit. A fence with an advertising space of about 350 feet would net $2000 in returns. It was moved and seconded that a committee be appointed to go further into the matter and investigate and report on the feasability of such a proposition. Carried.

The plans for a merchants' manufacturing division of the chamber of commerce to be operated independent of the chamber with exception that the vice president of the chamber be chairman of the division, for which Thos. Walker was appointed. The duties of this division will be the handling of business propositions, industrial applications and anything in the business line. A committee will be appointed and work begun at once.

Mrs. May Clark and Mr. Charles B. Wood both extended their thanks to the obard of directors for the honor conferred upon them by their election to the board, and assured them that they would always have the interests of Burbank at heart first. President Coburn accepted the thanks for the board and stated that the honor had been given to the chamber by their acceptance. The tmeeting was adjourned to next Wednesday night at 7:30.

A TOUCH OF NATURE

The office boy is very useful now,
My needs he serves;
The elevator man is on the job,
Nor skips nor swerves;
The janitor cleans all the desks and chairs,
And hums a tune,
The Christmas spirit everybody shares,
It's coming soon.

The ice man says good morning with a smile,
The milk man too;
Good nature is in all the air the while,
None sad or blue;
The cook makes me a cake she knows I like
And shows me how,
Nobody quits or seems to want to strike,
At least just now.

I wish this gladsome time would never end,
Each one would aid,
And every one about me is my friend,
Boy, man and maid.
At home, in office and upon the street
How fine they seem,
Each with a cheery word or smile to greet,
It's like a dream.

Somehow the kindness that is showered about
I must repay,
When boy and man and maid walk in and out
On Christmas day.
They all have been so willing and so good,
A joy to see,
I could not find fault with them if I would,
They're just like me!

CHRISTMAS EVE AND CHRISTMAS DAY ON TRAINS

Hundreds of children traveling on Southern Pacific limited trains Monday night and Tuesday enoyed their Christmas tree and holiday festivities although away from home.

In order that little tots who were forced to travel at such times might have their yuletide celebration, the Southern Pacific arranged an elaborate program for the entertainment of their small patrons.

Silver-tipped furs from the highest peaks of the Sierra Nevada mountains served as Christmas trees. They were richly decorated and placed in the observation cars where a Christmas festival was staged. Santa Claus was on every train and distributed presents to the little folk.

The gifts were done up in gayly decorated Christmas packages and bore the legend "A Merry Christmas to our little travelers from the Southern Pacific company."

In providing Christmas trees on the limited trains and distributing presents to the children the company strove only to carry out the spirit of the season and bring joy to the hearts of the little passengers who were forced to travel on Christmas.

Hundreds of pounds of candy were distributed to the children on board the company's limited trains Christmas eve and special holiday menus were served in the dining cars, which were elaborately decorated.

AT THE THEATERS

ZANE GREY STORY FILMED WHERE SCENES ARE HARD

A company of forty-one Paramount players left Los Angeles, Calif., for Flagstaff, Arizona, where scenes for "The Call of the Canyon," a Zane Grey production, were filmed in the country described in Mr. Grey's novel.

The featured players in the production are Richard Dix, Lois Wilson and Marjorie Daw. Mr. Dix and Miss Wilson also played leading roles in "To the Last Man." Heading the supporting cast are Noah Beery, Ricardo Cortez and Fred Huntley. The picture was directed by Victor Fleming. "The Call of the Canyon" which comes to the T. D. & L. Theatre tomorrow, tells the story of a definite phase in current American history following the great war when a wave of jazz swept over the world. Most of the scenes, however, are laid in the mountainous districts of the west. The picture is dramatic, thrilling and intensely appealing.

HEROINE DOES THE COURTING IN "PIONEER TRAILS"

"Pioneer Trails" will be the attraction at the Glendale Theatre for the last time today. This is a David Smith production and has a notable cast, including Cullen Landis, Alice Calhoun, Bertram Grassby and Otis Harlan.

The story opens with a prologue showing the Dale family starting out from a midwestern village to seek a fortune in the gold fields of the far west. The party is attacked by Indians and all are killed save Jack, four-year-old son of Robert Dale. The action jumps twenty years and the main story opens with a number of dramatic sequences that keep the interest high. There are thrills, humorous situations and just a touch of pathos that gives the production flavor and makes it throb with human interest. The love theme is given an unusual treatment in that the heroine is required to do much of the courting.

"THE MAIL MAN" IS ATTRACTION AT THE GATEWAY

Emory Johnson, in his latest production, "The Mail Man," which will be the attraction at the Gateway Theatre today and tomorrow, has shown in prologue the entire evolution of our present postal system including some of the latest developments in the way of sea and air service. In building up the present day efficiency of mail delivery, Ralph Lewis, the star, was called upon to drive a shady one-hoss delivery wagon, method of distribution formerly typical of many of our rural communities.

"The Mail Man" will offer entertainment value of no uncertain interest to everyone interested in Uncle Sam's big army of workers, as there are thrills galore, much interesting information of genuine value and a full quota of romance mixed with the livelier moments in the household and daily grind of the mail worker.

The Letter Carriers' Band of the Glendale postoffice will give a specially arranged concert. Also, as a mark of esteem to that wonderful organization of men, Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson will render several vocal selections.

MOVIE STARS TO SEE SPOKEN DRAMA FRIDAY NIGHT

"Pollyanna" will be the host of sixty-three movie stars (in one party) Friday night and almost every one from Walter Hiers to Little Jimmie will witness the Royal Stock Company's performance of this beautiful play. Two other movie parties have reserved blocks of seats and Glendale's clever thespians are receiving unstinted praise around the studios.

Edythe Elliott, who enacts the title role in "Pollyanna," is already a big favorite and those who have seen her this week as the little orphan can appreciate her great versatility.

"Pollyanna's" wholesome story makes it particularly appealing to the holiday theatre goers and all of the Glendale ministry are invited this week as guests of the Royal Stock company.

WHO WILL WIN THE $10,000?

The giant strides of Southern California population, business and especially motor traffic have raised some vital questions. Ten thousand dollars have been offered by the city of Los Angeles to the genius who can tell her what to do with all her fine cars—in short: solve that city's traffic problem.

We don't offer a solution — but here's a suggestion for motorists everywhere: Be careful in your choice of gasoline.

In the busy streets of the Southland, for example, "Red Crown" provides a quick, sure pick-up — your car gets away promptly at the signal to "go." And on the long, stiff grades of the hill there's no dropping back into "second" or "low" because of poor gasoline.

For years "Red Crown" has established a dependable standard for the quality of gasoline refined and marketed on the Pacific Coast.

Forty brands, or more, to choose from. ONE you can be sure of.
